AOTS: The Parent Body

The Association for Overseas Technical Cooperation and Sustainable Partnerships (AOTS), is a Japanese organization established on August 10, 1959 for human resources development in developing countries. AOTS aims to promote mutual economic development of Japan and other countries and friendly relationships between them by conducting activities to facilitate industrial globalization, trade, investment, and international economic cooperation. Its three training centers – Tokyo Kenshu Center (TKC) Tokyo, Kansai Kenshu Center (KKC) Osaka and Chubu Kenshu Center (CKC) Nagoya are "Home Away from Home" for the trainees.

AOTS Alumni Societies

Persons trained at AOTS training centers in Japan, are AOTS Alumni. Such Alumni are entitled to become members of self-sustained Alumni Societies which are non-profit organizations voluntarily founded by alumni of AOTS training programs. Currently 71 Alumni Societies exist in 43 countries. In India we have such societies at nine different locations - Chennai, Pune, Mumbai, New Delhi, Kolkata, Kochi, Bengaluru, Hyderabad and Vadodara.

These Alumni Societies play a valuable role in AOTS training programs as important local partners. AOTS supports the activities of Alumni Societies and promotes its National and Regional Federations enlarging mutual cooperation among Alumni Societies.

AAAWI - AOTS Alumni Association of Western India, Mumbai

Professionals commencing 1964 from Western India received technical training in industries in Japan. These professionals on return from Japan made efforts to set up a voluntary organization and hence the birth of AOTS Alumni Association of Western India (AAAWI) took place in 1993.

AAAWI supports and guides the Indian Industries, organises seminars and conferences on topics of industrial interest. AAWI has a state-of-the-art training infrastructure to accommodate 80 participants, a conference room for 10-15 persons and an enriched library with books on various subjects including Technical, Japanese Production Techniques, Management, Japanese culture and language etc.

Major Activities of AAWI:

- i. Screening and nominating professionals to undergo technical training organized by AOTS in Japan.
- ii. Conducting Japanese Language Proficiency Test (JLPT) courses.
- iii. Supporting Japanese Language Learning Program for Indian teachers by Japanese experts.
- iv. Organize and support Japanese Cultural activities.
- v. Seminars by Japanese and Indian Experts.
- vi. World Network Friendship (WNF) participants' training in companies like Godrej & Boyce Ltd., Larsen & Tubro Ltd., Reliance Infrastructure Ltd., and others.
- vii. Japanese Interns undergoing 6-months training in companies in Western India.
- viii. Sending AAWI representatives in activities of other Alumni Societies as well as world conference.
